DETAILED ACTION

In view of the appeal brief filed on 12/5/05, PROSECUTION IS HEREBY REOPENED. A new grounds of rejection is set forth below.

To avoid abandonment of the application, appellant must exercise one of the following two options:

(1) file a reply under 37 CFR 1.111 (if this Office action is non-final) or a reply under 37 CFR 1.113 (if this Office action is final); or,

(2) initiate a new appeal by filing a notice of appeal under 37 CFR 41.31 followed by an appeal brief under 37 CFR 41.37. The previously paid notice of appeal fee and appeal brief fee can be applied to the new appeal. If, however, the appeal fees set forth in 37 CFR 41.20 have been increased since they were previously paid, then appellant must pay the difference between the increased fees and the amount previously paid.

A Supervisory Patent Examiner (SPE) has approved of reopening prosecution by signing below:

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. Claims 5 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 5, recites “wherein the collect chuck arrangement includes a tensioning nut, wherein the sealing washer is attached to the tensioning nut”, unclear how a seal washer can have a collect chuck that includes a tensioning nut. For examination purpose the wherein clause is considered to be intended use and the claims are directed to only a seal washer that is capable of being arranged over a second member.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 3 and 5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Kawolics et al (US. 4,166,606).

Kawolics discloses a sealing washer for sealing a rotating collet chuck arrangement of a machine tool against coolant leakage (intended use), the washer having a circular opening (opening 124) for the tool shank (intended use), this opening defining a cylindrical surface (cylindrical of the opening) with an annular groove (groove having O-ring 126) in it and being dimensioned such that an open annular gap (annular gap that has fluid passing over a shaft as seen in figure 5, fluid indicated by the directional flow arrows) exist between the cylindrical surface and the tool shaft through which open space coolant can flow into the groove and buildup pressure therein (as seen in figure 5, the pressure buildup moves the O-ring upward), an elastic sealing body (126) disposed in the groove and embracing the tool shaft (intended use), wherein the groove is wider and deeper than the cross-section of the elastic sealing body (that is the case since the O-ring performs no seal function until the fluid is applied in the groove, column 5, line 58 to column 6, line 11) such that the sealing body is pressed by coolant against a side wall of the groove (fluid pushes the O-ring upwardly to push against a side wall of the groove).

Art Unit: 3673

The collet chuck arrangement includes a tensioning nut, wherein the sealing washer is attached to the tensioning nut (intended use, but the sealing washer is capable of being placed on a member 80 that is tensioned by a spring).

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 3 and 5 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
